

Bio – Taylor Drescher – Councillor

My name is Taylor Drescher, and I've called Clearwater home for four years. My fiancée and I moved here from Kelowna to help support her family who have lived in Clearwater for generations. What began as helping family quickly became something more, and we decided to make Clearwater home for good.

Professionally, I work as a Senior Cyber/Information Security Specialist. Outside of work, you'll find me curling in the winter and playing softball in the summer. Two years ago, I joined the Clearwater Fire Department as a volunteer firefighter, training up to my Interior Firefighter qualification which is one of the most rewarding commitments I've made since moving here.

This town has given my family so much, and I'm hoping for the chance to give back by serving as your next Councillor.
